The Daily Herald.

Dr. Abernethy used to tell his pupils that all human diseases sprung from two causes—stiffing and fretting.

Ladies who have a disposition to furnish their husbands, should bear in mind that a little warm sunshine will melt an ice much sooner than a regular North-easter.

Mildness in society is like salt in our food, as salt seasons and gives a relish to all meat, the other gives content to every body.

A convict wrote a letter to his brother, a serious letter, without even an attempt at a joke, which, however, concluded thus: "I must leave off now, for my feet are so cold I can not hold my pen."

A farmer made his last will and testament in words few but significant: "I have nothing, I own nothing, and I give the rest to the poor!"

In the game of life we should watch for the "Last Trump!"

A davey's instructions for putting on a coat were—"Fast the right arm, den the left, and den gib one general convulsion."

Where shall I put this paper so as to be sure to see it to-morrow? Inquired Mary Jane of her brother Charles. "On the looking-glass, to be sure," was the prompt reply.

The war in Europe.

It has been hoped, and even contended by some good thinkers, that the enlightened portions of our world had become too far advanced in wisdom to ever again engage in a sanguinary war. All such peace-loving people must by this time have seen that the fermenting elements of human nature are not all yet worked out.

Never was a war waged on a more gigantic scale than that now raging in Italy. With the exception of England alone, every European Government is ready for battle just as soon as what may be deemed a sufficient provocation is offered, to enter into the contest.

The present conflict presents many new features, that very distinctly mark the progress of the world in physical science. The first NAPOLEON was possessed of very meager facilities for prosecuting his campaigns compared with what the Emperor of France now brings to his aid. Among these, Railroads and Telegraphs are the most prominent, while the great improvements that have been made in every species of fire-arms, and other projectiles of warfare, serve to expedite the work of human destruction.

Think of a commander in the heat of battle ordering recruits from a distance of a hundred miles, and within five hours afterwards assigning them a place in the field; and that, on the same evening a victory is won in Italy, the city of Paris is illuminated in honor of the achievement, and we have an insight of the rapidity with which war may be carried on and intelligence of its movements and wants may be communicated at the present time.

When, and where, this war will end, is a question that no one at present seems competent to answer. It requires more confidence in the wisdom and self control of Louis Napoleon than mankind generally entertain of him, to believe that he will stop at the point prudence would dictate, flushed as he is with successive victories and an unbounded love of power. Let him step one foot over the line he has drawn as the boundary of the field of his offensive operations, and the other great powers will at once put their fortresses in a bristling aspect against him.—That Austria is to be entirely subjugated there seems not a doubt, but that her territory will ever be ruled by Napoleon III., no one can for a moment believe will be allowed. A balance of power in his hands would make all Europe tremble, and England as well as Russia would at once enter the field, and feel obliged to do so in self defence. It is impossible for the most sagacious mind to foresee what may be the ultimate positions of these powers that now earnestly desire peace; and that all Europe may yet be turned from the peaceful pursuits of industry, to enter the field of strife and warfare, is by no means an impossible result of the present circumscribed contest. The world needs the lessons it is now being taught, in order to do away with oppressive systems of government which hold it bound in chains, and they may as well come now as at a later day.

A Farmer who cultivates 300 acres in St. Josephs county, Mo., writes, under date of "Three Rivers, June 27," as follows: "We are just commencing harvest in this part, and if nothing unforeseen occurs, we shall secure large crops in this county. The frost I certainly think has been of benefit to us, destroying insects and not injuring any standard crop. All the injury to any one here falls upon myself, and amounts to about eleven hills of Lima beans, which are used up."

AMERICAN TEA.—The culture of the Tea plant is being tested to a considerable extent in the eastern States. The plant grows well, the climate not being found to interfere any serious impediment. An Eastern man is already preparing a machine for rolling the leaves, which the Chinese do with their fingers, and which will greatly lessen the expense of its preparation for market. We apprehend that the soil of this country is destitute of those principles essential for the genuine Chinese flavor, the same cause that makes American Tobacco inferior to that of Cuba for smoking.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE.—A confident hope is entertained that the Atlantic Cable will yet be restored to use. This is predicated upon a theory that the shore end was burned out by the powerful batteries used by the English electricians.—In the mean time negotiations have been settled upon for the necessary capital with which to construct and lay another wire next Summer.

The members of the Convention of Young Men's Christian Associations, lately in session at Troy, visited Saratoga in a body, on Saturday. They numbered nearly five hundred persons, representing all portions of the Union. After seeing the sights at the Springs, the company sat down to a dinner at Congress Hall, where sentiments were proposed and speeches made.

NEW WHEAT.—T. H. Yale of Leicester, has handed in a sample of new wheat raised by him on his farm on the county line. The berry is large and plump. Mr. Y. informs us that his whole crop of wheat will come up to the sample—being the largest and best raised by him in a number of years, so says the Wyoming Times.

A LOADED CANAL BOAT SUNK.—The New York papers report a canal boat from the Erie canal, loaded with corn, cargo valued at $12,000, sunk in the river near Rhinebeck a few days ago while on its way to that city, in tow of an Albany steamer. Insured for $2,500. They do not give her name.

George Kelly, a notorious highway robber and horse thief, who is believed to have been associated with most of the horse stealing that has been so frequent in the vicinity of Buffalo, was captured Sunday evening on the Aurora Plank Road, near Whitman's Tavern.

A son of the pugilist, Izzy Lazarus, of Buffalo, was yesterday detected in a robbery of $16, from the money drawer of Mr. C. S. Van Norman. He was consigned to the House of Refuge.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Advices from Tampico to July 2d, specially telegraphed to the Charleston Courier from New Orleans, say that the organization of the Liberal forces in Northern Mexico is broken up.

Miramontists are acting with renewed vigor and are not only threatening San Louis Potosi, but an expedition of 5,000 men against Tampico is being organized under Gen. Morano.

Artillerymen and ammunition had arrived at Tampico from Vera Cruz, and a large quantity of powder had already been received from New Orleans.

BALLOONING.—Mr. La Mountain has challenged Mr. John Wise to test their "relative capacity, scientifically considered, in a trial trip from San Francisco to the Atlantic seaboard, with balloons." Mr. Wise, in a card, published in The St. Louis Democrat says that his "thoughts are now turned to the crossing of the Atlantic, and with a precision much better than was the trip from St. Louis to New-York. I have fully resolved on that, because I have learned in the St. Louis trip that it is easier to accomplish than I had heretofore thought it was."

Alexander Dudley, lately resident of Castle, Wyoming Co., was found dead in his buggy some half a mile east of his residence, Saturday evening, the 9th.—Coroner Amenden summoned a jury, verdict: Deceased came to his death from strangulation, caused by falling with his neck across the dash board while in a state of intoxication. Mr. D. was 70 years of age.

Although Rufus Choate, the eminent lawyer, is dead, he leaves behind him a son who is likely to do honor to the name he bears. Rufus Choate, Jr., is also a lawyer, inheriting to a certain extent the talents of his father. He graduated with honor at Amherst College in 1855, and was admitted to the bar about a year since.—His age is about twenty-five.

Greeley Turned Fillibuster!

A Los Angeles correspondent of The Philadelphia Bulletin states that a California paper started a canard to the effect that Horace Greeley of the Tribune was on his way to California to take command of all the various tag, tag and bobtail fillibusters to be found there; that Henningsen and Walker would join him with forces collected in the Atlantic States; and that the whole horde, under the supreme command of the afraid Greeley, would invade Mexico and usurp the government of that Republic. A copy of this paper fell into the hands of the commander, at Mazatlan, and he at once issued a proclamation informing the people that "One Horace Greeley, a most diabolical, blood-thirsty and unmerciful man—worse than the infamous Walker, or even the minions of Miramon—a man whose very name struck dread to the heart of thousands in the United States, so many were his crimes and so terrible was his conduct—is now at the head of the most extensive band of fillibusters ever collected, and on his way to Mexico!" He then exhorts the people to prepare themselves for instant action, and concludes thus: "This dangerous man (hombre peligroso) is not of the common school of fillibusters; they wish for plunder, he for blood and murderous deeds." "Just imagine," says the correspondent, "the mild and amiable philosopher of the Tribune converted into the hardened fiend this bright greaser makes him!"

WHERE TO FIND ROGUES.—A gentleman in the Metropolis from the East some time since remarked that New York appeared to him to be "the receptacle of things lost on the earth," for, among others whose whereabouts had long since been to him unknown, he had met in the streets an old sweetheart, who had once jilted him; a fellow-boarder at a Boston Hotel, who took his leave between two days, forgetting in his haste to pay his landlord's bill; a room-mate to whom he had sold a watch on credit, and who had disappeared quite as mysteriously as the other; and, which surprised him more than anything else, he found at Barnum's Museum the old elephant Columbus (one of the first, if not the first, ever exhibited in this country), whom he had been taken to see, when a very little child, about the close of the war of 1812, at Davenport's Inn, in Market street, Portsmouth.

An ex-clergyman, Mr. Robert D. Dwyer, has sold the New York Sunday Courier for publishing a sketch entitled "Exploits financial and otherwise of a Model Clergyman," which sketch Mr. Dwyer claims was intended to injure him in the eyes of the community. The complainant was cross-examined, and stated that he preached as a Presbyterian clergyman in Richmond, Va., three years. Subsequently, he came to New York and joined the Congregational Church, and was a clergyman of that denomination when the "sketch" appeared. He stated further that he had been married, and had two daughters, one of whom ran away, and the other married against his consent.

NEED OF REFORM.—The New-York Daily Advertiser says:

"Among the persons who signed the pledge in this County jail, by the influence of the chaplain, a few days since, was a young woman who said she drank forty-four glasses of lager beer, beside a lot of poor liquor, on the 4th, when she became noisy and quarrelsome, and was arrested and sent to jail. The whole number of sinners was 62."

Lizzie Wayne, the gay deceiver, who stole $2,700 at a Wheeling hotel has escaped custody. The loser only received $1,800 of his money. The police were not very hard on Lizzie—boarding her at a hotel, hoping to coax her to tell where the rest of the money was. She gave her custodians the slip without giving the information they sought. She will shortly resume her lectures on "home lies."

ARROW BURR.—A marble shaft recently erected over the remains of Aaron Burr, in the grave-yard in Princeton, New Jersey, has been mutilated and broken by some person unknown. The shaft was erected by stealth, no one knowing who put it there.

It is stated that Richard Slanson, of Piqua, Ohio has commenced a suit against the New York Central Railroad Company, for injuries that his wife received at the melancholy accident near Jordan, on the 18th of May last. He lays his damages at $10,000.

On Friday night John Haley stabbed John King in Water street, New York, not fatally however. On the same night John Crowley shot Patrick Lavey to satisfy an old grudge. He was arrested, pleaded drunkenness, and was looked up to be acquitted some day by Ashmead.

The Kansas Constitutional Convention, after a somewhat lengthy discussion, has decided upon fixing, as the Northern boundary of the State, the original Nebraska line.

NEWS AND MISCELLANY.

The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time.

A friend that you buy with presents may be bought from you.

Flour is sinking fast in the New York market. It is now about $3 per barrel lower than on the 1st of April last.

Mrs. Anna Pope died on Thursday at Spencer, Mass., aged 105 years. She lived with her husband, a minister, for fifty years.

The thunder storm of Wednesday was severe in the New England States, and many accidents resulted, fatally to man and beast.

The citizens of Sacramento, California, have made preparations to give Mr. Greeley a public reception on his arrival in that place.

Some old fogey is writing in the Syracuse Journal against the selection of pretty women for wives by young men about to run their heads into the matrimonial noose.
